Oracle Java Advanced Management Console Advanced Management Console (AMC) collects information about applications and JREs across an enterprise. That information is stored and presented in the AMC UI which can then be used for creating deployment rules and rule sets based on the data provided. AMC 1.0 is a commercial product available for Java users who license Java SE Advanced or Java SE Advanced Suite. Learn More ▶	DOWNLOAD ↓
JavaFX Scene Builder JavaFX Scene Builder is a visual layout tool that lets users quickly design Java application user interfaces, without coding. Users can drag and drop UI components to a work area, modify their properties, apply style sheets, and the FXML code for the layout that they are creating is automatically generated in the background. The result is an FXML file that can then be combined with a Java project by binding the UI to the application's logic. Learn More ▶	DOWNLOAD ↓
